

There must be an element of faith in everything.

Who has linked the whole civilized and uncivilized world together in glorious delight and laughter. This bright illusion and spirit.

emanates from faith. My faith is in the good of the unknown in that aura of power of the mind.

In browsing over the field of philosophers: Locke, Berkeley, Leibnitz and Kant and contrary to Kant's assumption that all knowledge is the awakening of slumbering ideas. I believe that only our instincts are erratic and from them we generate thought. And only by faith do we achieve knowledge and ideas, whether science or mathematics, Biology, Philosophy, Theology. All hypothesis and systems
