

The Dawn of 1943

Gaping cavernous streets
And gashed in walls
Grew dimly out of the [xxx] of dawn;
And [xxx] trees
And soulless homes
[xxx] open wounds.
Like masks of Heath,
Were [xxx] as a dreamy blood-streaked sky
Began to yawn.

Slumber!