

When life lets you down
And you are all alone
With an emptiness in your heart
And your soul cries out
For the reason why
You and your love should part
Go into the night and look up at the stars
And tell them your tale of despair
No matter what sorrow you may impart
You'll find an answer there.