

Good morning, how do you feel?

I really couldn't say. I guess I'm in the wrong cabin.

No, this is your cabin.

Oh, thank you.

Of course, I would not expect you to remember me, but I'm the young lady you proposed to last night.

I'm awfully sorry... I... I never... did I?

Don't you remember? Of course, I suppose I should remember a thing like that. But I—you'll pardon

You see last night you were a little

I know.

Well we all came here for a farewell drink.